This course will provide an overview of lien procedures that architects can use to encourage full and prompt payment for their services. You will also leave with an understanding of security, leverage, priority, and contractual clauses which affect the strength of a lien claim.

- ◆ Learn what liens are, and under what circumstances they are available to architects practicing in California, as well as simple, effective routine techniques you can put into practice to protect your lien rights.
- ◆ Learn the distinctions between Design Professional liens and Mechanic’s liens, and how and when to employ them.
- ◆ Learn when and why it may help to involve an attorney to assist with lien issues.
- ◆ Learn best practices and ethical considerations for collection procedures.

Mark is a founding partner of Hardin & Coffin, LLP. His practice focuses on business, construction, real estate, and personal injury litigation. Mark’s clients include property owners, businesses, contractors, and manufacturers that he has successfully represented in trials involving contract claims, property disputes, jobsite accidents, product liability and professional liability litigation.
